VOLUME XXVII. NUMBER 38.

IRONTON, MO.

THURSDAY, MARCH 22, 1894.

Announcements.

We are authorized to announce THOS. BEARD as a candidate for Marshal of the City of Ironton at the coming election, to be held Tuesday, April 3d, 1894.

We are authorized to announce J. L. BALDWIN as a candidate for Marshal of the City of Ironton at the coming election, to be held Tuesday, April 3d, 1894.

We are authorized to announce J. A. SEGNER as a candidate for Marshal of the City of Ironton at the coming election, to be held Tuesday, April 3d, 1894.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Windy March is blowing herself free.

Again is the early gardener laying himself liable.

Bert Langdon has bought the Henry Russell farm for a summer residence.

The time for the holding of the next term of the Iron County Court comes on space. A pretty large docket will occupy the attention of the court.

About eighty men were put to work in the Spenite Granite Company's quarries at Graniteville last Wednesday. This is the first ray of sunshine this year.

Judge J. D. Fox of Madison county announces himself a candidate for Congress, as we are personally advised by him. He will make a formidable competitor.

On the first page of this paper is an article descriptive of Des Arc, its leading men, and its industries. The write-up is well done, is readable, and is reliable.

J. L. Baldwin announces himself a candidate for re-election to the city marshalship, and, if he doesn't get there, he will hustle the man that does. This is official.

Thomas Beard announces himself a candidate for the office of City Marshal. If elected, he will make an efficient and attentive officer, and devote his time to the best interests of the City.

Everybody will be glad to learn the George Schultz, Esq., who has been very sick, is now regaining his wonted health. He has had a pretty hard tussle, and we hope he may live in good health long enough to forget all about it.

Jas. C. Smith last Monday sold to Mr. Alfred Hale of Bellevue an interest in the fine horse Forrest Prince, well known by breeders of fine stock throughout this section. Forrest Prince will make the coming season at Mr. Hale's farm.

The St. Louis Conference of the M. E. Church, North, met at Lebanon last week. Among the changes we note—D. W. Crow, Presiding Elder of Farmington circuit, in place of Rev. Martin. Rev. Hornel goes from here to Cuba, and Rev. J. H. Hurley takes his place in Ironton.

MARRIED—Miss Mollie Kness of Graniteville, to Mr. J. T. Wood, of Platte county, Mo., at the home of Mr. Kness, uncle of the bride, Rev. Geo. H. Duty officiating. Mr. Wood is an energetic farmer of Platte county, and he carries back to his home a very highly esteemed young lady and the best wishes of all her friends.

The services at the Presbyterian Church Easter Sabbath: Easter sermon, 11 A. M. "The Prophet Isaiah," 7 P. M. Prayer meeting, 7 P. M. Wednesday. Subject: "Moses and the frozen serpent." A cordial invitation is extended to all, and especially to non-church-goers. Services at Graniteville Sabbath at 2:45 P. M. Geo. H. Duty, Pastor.

Are not the owners of the "burnt district" holding their vacant lots at too high a price? We know of several gentlemen who would like to purchase and build, but they say they can't afford to pay the price of a lot and house, and then be at the expense of building the house. It may be none of your affair, but we want to see that vacant space hidden by good brick buildings.

The new house the Bawlin Bros. are building on the old Newman place will be finished within a month. Its dimensions are thirty-five feet square, and it is two stories in height. The ground floor will contain five rooms, and the second floor will have at least as many. As it is intended for their future home, they will take care to make it commodious and convenient. The building is a noted addition to the south end of town, and we hope the family may live long to enjoy its possession.

The Necktie-and-Apron-Ball at the Academy "Music" next Monday evening promises to be one of the biggest affairs of the kind known to the Valley for many years. The Arrangements Committee has done its whole duty, and all others interested in the success of the Ball have been putting in their best efforts in its behalf. Good music, the latest dances, an elegant spread—all have been provided for. To those coming from neighboring places, we can assure a hearty welcome and lots of pleasure.

Bad luck appeared to follow the celebrated Clark's elephant to the end, and the end came last week. When Harris' Nickel Plate show exhibited at Pensacola, Florida, the big elephant was in such an ugly mood that she could not be removed from the train, and a employee of the show narrowly escaped being killed by her. The show was billed for Marianna a town east of there, next day. A special has been received from there stating that the elephant became so enraged that she refused to be kepters were compelled to kill her. It required more than twenty rifle shots to do the work. So, we presume, ends the replevin case.

H. M. Collins tried to drive Dr. Jones' big Percheron horse last Friday. He hitched him to a wagon with a quick horse beside him to hold him steady, but it was no go—or, rather, it was too much go. The big horse made a lunge and started full speed down the street. He soon pulled the wagon and his mate on to the sidewalk, and knocked down several panels of the wire fence fronting Mr. Search's residence. The gate-post brought all up standing. It appears that upon starting up the lines broke and left the horse free to go as he pleased. After being quieted, he was started again, and did better for the time being. But later on took another spurt—this time without damage or hurt, except to the driver's feelings and piety.

Essie Davis and Emma Johnson were arraigned in Judge Paxon's court in St. Louis one day last week on the charge of disturbing the peace and were fined $5 and $10 respectively. They had fought with hatchets at midnight the night before. The quarrel was said to have been over an 18-year-old boy named Willie Wolf, who was recently fined $50 for frequenting the house in which Emma lived. Essie Davis was the mistress of Jacob Henze, one of the Brown murderers, and it was through a remark she let drop that the murderer's identity was established. On being closely questioned Emma said her real name was Emma Hunt and that her mother and two brothers live at Ironton, Mo., and that they did not know what kind of a life she is leading. All of which causes us to remark, her certain title ought to be "Truthful Em."

Iron County F. & L. U.

The Iron County F. & L. U. will meet on Friday, April 13th, 1894. Business of importance will be before the meeting. Every sub-union will please send a delegate.

J. B. HAMPTON, President.

J. B. HOLLOMAN, Secretary.

Arcadia News.

Mr. Polk has purchased Mrs. Pike's piano.

A. J. Langdon was registered at Cottage Hotel last week.

Jas. M. Baird and daughter of Senath are visiting relatives in this city. Arcadia has a new millinery shop. Mrs. O'Brien was in St. Louis last week.

H. N. Baird is improving the pavement around his store.

Mr. Joe Reburn and family went to Iron Mountain Sunday.

Drs. Goulding and Lowery cut a cancer from the mouth of Sam Reburn's little son last week. This is the ninth time in three years little Elmo has undergone such an operation. He is a brave and patient little fellow.

Blanche Hatten will spend Easter at home.

Mrs. J. M. England is visiting relatives at Steelville.

We understand that the Arcadia Accommodation will run between Charleston and St. Louis in about three months. It will be a blow to the people between here and Bismarck.

We had a very pleasant drive with some of our Ironton friends Saturday evening out to the Fisher Schoolhouse Debate. The evening was warm and pleasant, and the roads smooth. (We suppose that our newly elected road-overseer, Jim Dixon, had been along.)

On reaching the schoolhouse we found a large crowd of people assembled. After select reading, by a number of young people, came the debate, which was very nice and instructive as well as pleasing. One of the young lady speakers made a mistake and spoke against her own side of the question, causing great mirth, and intense satisfaction on part of her legal opponent. The question for the next meeting is: "Should a lawyer defend a client when known to be guilty?" AUNT TILLY.

From Des Arc.

Rev. Isaac Lane preached here today. His theme was "The Second Coming of Christ."

Mrs. S. West returned from Ironton today. She went to bid farewell to her brother, Mark Doty, and family, whom perhaps she will never see on this earth again. They start for California Monday.

Robt. West and family have moved back from Keener, to try blacksmithing here again. This is Robert's third time to set up a shop here. We welcome you, Bob.

Mr. Andrew Winn and family have moved to Des Arc. They will take care of Thos. Saylor's motherless children. Mrs. Winn is Tom's mother.

E. W. Graves will soon have his Jumbo saw-mill at work again. Lumber orders are beginning to come in again.

Farmers are now fixing to plant corn. The wheat crop looks well. E. W. G. will plant one acre in potatoes; they are worth one dollar per bushel here.

Sam Pitts has five Billy and Nanny Goats for sale cheap.

A correspondent from some place wrote up our town last week. I suppose we will see it in this week's issue. I did not have the pleasure of meeting with him. We hope he gave us a good send-off, for Des Arc is the nicest and most quiet and religious town on this railroad. No saloons, and no bad men or women.

"Toney," the saloon man of Ironton, paid us a flying visit Friday, looking after his property here.

Our candidates are slow coming out. They are bloomed out in full in Wayne county, and I am afraid the frost will catch some of them.

I understand Sam Byrns will come again. Glad to hear it. If Iron county will only give him a show he will carry it. Des Arc will unfurl her banner for him and stand by him to the last.

All Free.

Annapolis News.

Ed. Register—My brother who lives at Bucknell, Ind., sent me a clipping from the Indianapolis News, which just about expresses my feelings, so I send it to you for reproduction in the Register. Here it is:

"A LETTER TO SENATOR VOORHEES."

"INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 27, 1894."

"Senator D. W. Voorhees, Washington, D. C."

"Sir—I have your circular letter of inquiry, directed to manufacturers, asking for information relative to tariff revision. Although it comes late it is deserving of some attention. You ask thirty-four questions. I shall direct my answer to one only—the seventeenth. 'What, in your opinion, is the cause of the depression in trade, and what would be your remedy to correct it?'"

"Coming from you at this time, this is the most remarkable question. 'What is the cause of the present depression?' Primarily, the present depression is, in my opinion, caused by over-production—over-production of 'Senatorial courtesy,' the name of a thing that has become a by-word and a reproach in every corner of the land."

"A thing that has caused your once honorable body to be regarded as a stumbling block in the way of advancement and reform, and which has caused a widespread feeling that it should be abolished, or in some way made responsible to the people for its acts. The utter disregard it has shown for the suffering country has its only historical parallel in Nero and his fiddle."

"You stop to gather up by circular letters the opinion of the beneficiaries of a vicious tax system, turning a deaf ear to the cries of the people for relief. You cannot claim that time is needed for discussion, for you know that all of the phases of this subject, and all the acts involved in the information sought by your thirty-four questions, have been discussed over and over again in every walk of life, from the byways and hedges to the halls of Congress. The people have returned their verdict after evidence and argument were heard, and you are asked to render judgement. What 'courtesy' do you expect from them if you set aside this verdict and grant a new trial? If such a time comes you will be made a defendant, and the verdict rendered will be a 'crowner's quest' verdict, if I do not much mistake the things I hear."

"This much in general. Now of you more particularly. Your long service in public life has made you a conspicuous figure. Your success as a spoilsmonger has proved you persistent in what you undertake. Unconquerable in a bad cause, will you hesitate and halt when a principle is at stake? Does the prospect of a moral and vital principle of government confuse you? It would seem so. What is the cause and what is the remedy for the present depression, forsooth."

"Have you forgotten the Democratic platforms from '76 to '92? Have you forgotten the hundred campaign speeches you have made? With portentous visage and resonant voice you have warned your constituents of the cause and charmed them with the prospects of your promised remedy. 'A Daniel come to judgement!' they have shouted. Alas! their song is now—"

"When the devil was sick
The devil a saint would be;
When the devil was well
The devil a saint was he."

"What was the meaning of all your campaign speeches, this thundering in the index, if when the time for action arrives you become so often denounced? Shall we interpret your present conduct in the light of your speech at the Cotton Exposition at Atlanta, and regard your campaign declarations as the gyrations of a weakling, as he veers to the variable winds? The people are utterly unable to understand your conduct, and I am not presuming too much when I say that the young Democracy of this State demands that you show a reason for your further continuance in public life. There are no longer any Democrats in Pennsylvania, and if you and your associates persist in your present conduct there will not be enough Democrats in our next Legislature to caucus for your renomination. However pleasing this prospect of your defeat may appear to your constituents, it certainly ought to admonish you to act."

"I can not picture to you the suspense in which you and your associates are holding this community, nor can I recount to you the daily complaints and denunciations that are heard. Trusting that it is some way and in a short period you may realize the condition of things and act in accord with the expressed will of the people, I am yours truly, WM. L. HIGGINS."

W. R. Lence was called home last week by the death of his father, who lives at Pirtle Springs, Ills.

The pay car passed down the road last Wednesday, making glad the hearts of the employees.

Dr. Miner, of Lesterville, and Dr. Tony, of Piedmont, performed a dangerous operation on J. M. Browne. Mr. Browne is said to be improving nicely.

They also operated upon Mr. Russell, commonly called, Bug; Russell; and Mr. Russell we are sorry to say, is in a very bad condition, being in the last stage of consumption along with his other ailments.

John Towl spent a day or two at home last week.

Wm. Nelson is at home on a visit. Spring poetry is now in order. Granite Lodge, I. O. O. F., had work in the initiatory degree last night, but the best of it was, the sisters of the Rebekah branch of the order, broke in upon the brothers and served them with cake and ice-cream, and a general good time don't begin to tell it.

Mrs. Morris returned from an extended visit to friends this morning.

Mrs. H. N. Loyd went to Ironton last week.

Mrs. Lem Loyd has been very sick, but is slowly improving at present.

Robt. Woody, postmaster of Annapolis, went to Frankfort on a visit to friends and relatives.

Miss Marie Dunn has returned home from Hogan, where she has been visiting relatives and friends.

March 18, 1894. MURPHY.

From Goodland.

Plowing, house-cleaning and soap-making are the order of the day.

A. H. Eaton is able to be about again after a long, tedious illness.

W. H. Smith has rebuilt the fence around his farm.

G. G. Adams is making rails when not visiting his best girl.

N. W. Adams has been confined to the house most of the time during the past month.

S. O. Brooks has cleared a piece of ground this winter which should yield a large crop of corn.

Dr. J. R. Adams is kept closely at home attending his Uncle Zenas Adams who is very ill.

C. W. H. Eaton is sowing oats (not wild oats.)

A log-rolling last week at Sol. Wellson's.

Mrs. Westernman and son visited relatives at Goodland and Goodwater last week.

Miss Teresa Henderson of Belgrade spent last week with friends at Goodland.

U. S. Adams and wife, lately of Fresno, Cal., spent a few days at the home of Dr. Adams, on their way to their new home in central Ohio.

A successful revival meeting, under the auspices of the Disciple church, lately resulted in a number of accessions to the church. The ordinance of Baptism will be attended to the first Sunday in April.

We congratulate Mr. McKenzie upon his accession to office; also feel sorry that W. B. Newman has been ousted, as we know him to be an honest man, and hope his successor may be that same.

TIMOTHY HAY.

It must be a good article that will induce a man to go forty miles to get it. Mr. E. R. Swetnam, of Fairfax Station, Va., says: a party came forty miles to his store for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and bought a dozen bottles. "The Remedy is a great favorite in this vicinity," he says "and has performed some wonderful cures here."

It is intended especially for Coughs, Colds, Croup and Whooping Cough. For sale by Mrs. P. R. Crisp.

Gravelton Items.

We are now in the lap of spring. Spring has come earlier this year than I ever knew it to do before.

Farmers are busy sowing oats and plowing for corn. The prospects are that there will be a large acreage of each.

D. E. Shearer went to Piedmont yesterday for a few days.

L. H. Ward of Turkey Creek was in town Thursday.

Dr. Gaines is having lumber hauled preparatory for building here, in order to go to school.

Mr. Webb, Simmons of Twelve Mile is working Prof. Wagner's farm this year.

Misses Laura McKinnie and Zoa Ward are recent arrivals at school.

N. A. Ward received a kick from a horse Monday and consequently has not been able to get around for the past few days.

Mr. F. B. Hinkle of Brunot was a visitor recently and brought with him another pupil for Concordia.

Mr. Myers has annexed a shingle mill to his saw-mill, and in the future will make both lumber and shingles.

Photographer Moser took a nice photograph of the music class this week.

C. W. Phillips makes an occasional trip to Buchanan.

Dr. Bugg of Patterson was visiting in town recently.

Banister Brothers' show left here last week for Iron County where they will make a few exhibits, and then go west.

Concordia College is booming this year. It would be well for other schools if they could possess such an excellent faculty as Prof's. Wagner, Livingston, and Benmick. Concordia has flourished from the beginning; while other schools around her have risen only to sink down again into the depths of obscurity. J. H.

From Clones.

Ed. Register—After four or five months of dreary, wintry weather, during which all nature appeared to be dormant, spring, with all its beauty and grandeur, has come again to greet us. Out here nearly all farmers are busy making preparations to put in their usual "crops." Many have sowed oats, while a few have planted potatoes, put out gardens, etc.

Owing to the extremely dull times, I find it absolutely a hardship to gather news of any importance, but will yet for a while at least, continue to report from this point.

Not long ago the writer made a trip down in Reynolds county, Black post-office being his objective point. While there he stopped at the store of Messrs. Hughes & Cureton where a few purchases were made. They are honest, accommodating young men, who justly deserve a fair patronage.

Hiller Waldner, merchant at Edge Hill, is, it is said, making preparations to remove his stock of dry goods to Flat Woods, where he proposes to engage in the mercantile business. Hiller is an accommodating man, has not an enemy, except from purely selfish motives, in this section of country, and we regret to have him leave us. But what is our loss will be Flat Wood's gain.

Miss Judith McMahon, who has been in St. Louis for the past six months, has returned home.

Henry Volner made a trip to Ironton not long ago.

H. Latham had a "log-rolling" recently.

A. H. Eaton, who has been confined
